MISSION

To bring individuals from the community together that share an interest in history, and especially history relating to Adams, MA.

HUMANITIES EXPERTISE

Adam's Historical society works collectively to locate and study relics that will lead to a better understanding of the roots of Adams.

Through this process the society also works to preserve all historical documents safely. Another aspect of the AHS is working to encourage the marking of historic buildings, sites and trails; by using the media of the press, radio and television to awaken public interest; and to cooperate with other historical societies.
